Dedication

Appreciation is an attribute rarely found and never fully expressed. It is with appreciation of his many kindnesses, his untiring patience, and his sympathetic understanding that we dedicate the Terrier 1963 to Mr. James H. Erickson, friend, teacher, and dedicated public servant.

Foreword

Each man is the handiwork of the Lord, but he is also a unique creation, subject to many influences and molded by many hands:

The devoted hands of teachers who have pointed the way to learning and offered the keys to knowledge;

The artistic hands that formed our crude efforts into things of beauty;

The skilled hands that guided our unsure fingers at unfamiliar tasks;

The athletic hands that taught us the game of life by encouraging the spirit of competition;

The firm hands of administration who have upheld the ideals on which our school is built;

The willing hands of those who served us so well and without whom no school and no class could prosper;

The unseen hands of a loyal school committee who undertook the responsibilities of our education;

The loving hands of parents and family who cared so much and sacrificed so selflessly;

The outstretched hands of classmates, eager to be understanding and to be understood.

These hands are the source and the symbol of our yearbook.

A Tribute

A retirement, like a commencement, is a beginning, yet an ending, a fulfillment, yet an opportunity, a satisfaction, yet a regret. The four teachers pictured on this page represent a teaching accomplishment rare in the annals of any school. These four have touched the lives of many during the more than one hundred years which they have given to instructing West Springfield High School students. Generations of students who remember them with gratitude and affection will find it impossible to imagine them in any capacity but that of educators forever dispensing knowledge and imparting wisdom. They and their accomplishments have been an inspiration to innumerable classes. These four dedicated, devoted people and all that they symbolized will never be forgotten.

Providing a Better Education

The School Committee has always been ready to lend a helping hand to the administration, faculty, and students at West Springfield High School. This committee has provided many organized and well-spent years for the class of 1963.

In 1962, West Springfield High School was evaluated and highly accredited as a member of the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools for the next ten years. We owe the School Committee a debt of thanks for providing the facilities, the faculty, and the program which earned this honor. The committee's never-ceasing work for the benefit of our schools is greatly appreciated.

SUPERINTENDENT'S MESSAGE

We are living in a privileged period of mental and spiritual growth and expansion. We should acquire the rare ability to make ourselves useful to mankind and to respect hard work and plain old-fashioned honesty. The most valuable things that come to us in life we earn with our own two hands, for in life there are no lucky people; winners are workers with an aim. Above all, we must look upon life itself as a bigger and broader school where the main vocation is the constant learning of endless lessons under the guidance of an infinite Teacher.

Every member of the West Springfield School System extends to every member of the Class of 1963 sincere congratulations and best wishes for continued success in the future.

Chris Grammaticas
Superintendent of Schools

Guiding Our Lives

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

Education is a lifelong process by which we continue to feed new vigor into the life stream of our community through intelligent, reasoned decisions.

Let us think of education as a means of developing our greatest abilities, because in each of us there is a private hope and dream, which, fulfilled, can be translated into benefit for everyone.

ROBERT C. SHIELDS
Principal

VICE-PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

I congratulate the Class of 1963 for a job well done, and I wish to take this opportunity to thank its members for the assistance and co-operation given me this year.

West Springfield High School has a rich heritage. As you now take your place among the thousands of its graduates, you will add something, great or small, to that heritage. How much you have learned and what you will do with that learning will decide your contribution.

I wish to leave with you a formula which I hope you will find useful: Faith in God plus trust in yourself equals happiness and success.

RAYMOND W. WILLIAMSON
Acting Vice-Principal

Offering Their Assistance

The hands of the Guidance Department help shape the future of each student at West Springfield High School. The Guidance Counselors have advised us, planned our programs, pointed us toward successful future careers, and helped us to solve our problems, both scholastic and personal. Because the same counselor is assigned to a class from its entrance to its graduation, he gains an insight into each student's character and becomes a friend as well as an adviser.

Harris Tanner advises Norine Bresnahan in her decisions for college next year. In his capacity as Guidance Placement Director, Mr. Tanner helps studens make college choices and obtain employment upon graduation.

Albert Bessette points out the new guidance bulletin board to Carol Baiardi and Marilyn Shapter. Through this device students learn dates of College Board examinations and of prospective visits by college representatives.

The capable hands of our office staff, Mrs. Irene Conklin, Mrs. Edna Christian, Mrs. Marjorie Rockwell, and Mrs. Edith Dutkiewicz, perform a variety of clerical and administrative tasks which help to keep our school operating smoothly and efficiently.

Increasing Our Understanding

The task of the English teachers is multifold. Their hands must mold us as future individuals, because from them we learn the art of communication—to write effectively, to speak coherently, to read reflectively, and to listen attentively.

Through English we learn to evaluate the world of books, and to discriminate between the shoddy and the worthwhile. We become acquainted with the best that has been said and thought in the world, and we gain an appreciation of our cultural heritage. By reading, we begin to understand the world around us. Through great characters and great poetry by great authors we come to know human nature—our fellow man as well as ourselves.

Mrs. Bertha Hertz, a member of the English Department, proves she is always ready to lend a helping hand to students in study hall.

Miss Arline Riggs and Gordon Vye, speech teachers, help William Teece, Lucinda Taylor, Ernest Carbone, and Randolph Caney to improve their speaking technique. Students are trained in the art of oral expression in order to give them poise, confidence, and effectiveness in speaking, especially in later life.

Members of the English Department pause for the cameraman. Seated are Miss Dorothy Shaw, and Miss Marjorie Costello. Standing: Miss Victoria Swistro, Richard Pervonga, and Mrs. Eileen Donnelly.

Widening Our Horizons

Like members of an international round table, members of the history meet to discuss the problem of building democratic concepts among students. Seated are William Quigley, Mrs. Helen Cowing, Mrs. Mary Hubbard, and John Siepietowski; standing: David Crosier, Gordon Vye, George Bozenhard, and William Wyman.

Mrs. Mary Hubbard and Anderson Bray set up apparatus for the showing of a filmstrip in history class. Films and other Audio-Visual Aids dramatize historical events and awaken the interest of the students to today's problems.

Today's world demands an understanding of the past and a knowledge of the present. The History Department of West Springfield High School attempts to convey this knowledge to enable a student to understand his world and to live as an intelligent and informed citizen.

Textbooks are not the only source of information. Audio-Visual Aids, newspapers, and other media of communications, independent research, term papers, and oral reports are used so that the student will learn to seek the truth, to correlate his facts, and come to an independent, reasoned opinion. As a part of this search, each student pursues courses in World History and United States History to provide a foundation on which he can build a useful and happy life.

William Wyman points out a place of strategic importance to sophomore Leslie Hunt. Familiarity with with our ever-changing world has become vital for all Americans. Thus, each history class has set aside one day a week to study current events and places in the news and to analyze their significance.

Pursuing Language Studies

"Was ist das?" ponders Roy Augusberger as Mr. Richard Bellefleur, German teacher, shows him the results of a recent test. Pete Faulkner, right, confirms his Latin average for the first quarter.

"Tournez le bouton," says Miss Helen Bailey, French instructor, to Mrs. Lois Bopp as she acquaints the newest member of the Language Department with the new language laboratory.

With world horizons constantly shrinking, the study of foreign languages is more important than ever. The knowledge of foreign languages enables us to communicate with people of other lands, and to enrich our cultural background by the study and appreciation of their civilizations. We, at West Springfield High School, are fortunate in having an expert staff of instructors in Latin, French, Spanish, and German.

The language department facilities include a modern language laboratory, which has individual booths, with tape recorders by which students can more fully develop proficiency in speaking and understanding foreign languages.

"Veni, vidi, vici!" Deanne Suzor learns the art of scanning Latin verse from Miss Dorothy Bugbee, chairman of the Language Department.

" ¿Que lo dice?" Regina Battista, a first year Spanish student, asks Mr. Angelo Laveglia, Spanish instructor, about a poster for Spain's national pastime. Such posters familiarize students with scenes of Spain as well as the language they are studying.

Solving the Problems

Demonstrating the use of a sphere in today's advanced mathematics are, in the picture to the right; Mr. Kenneth Bruhm, Mr. Lindzay Varnum, chairman, and Mr. Michael Murphy.

Math teachers, Mr. Willis Phair, Mr. Eugene King, Mr. Harley McVay and Mr. Laurence Goss, (pictured below) use various devices, such as the three-dimensional cube and the slide rule, to give each student a practical experience with mathematics.

The Mathematics Department of West Springfield High School attempts to instill in all students a sense of order and precision, and a respect for numerical values, ratios, formulas, and progressions. In a world where math plays an ever expanding role, study of arithmetic, geometry, and trigonometry is essential. Courses in these subjects prepare our students for college work and industrial training. This year, the so-called "new math" made great strides, confounding the outsider, but increasing the students' understanding of the very nature of numbers and widening their opportunities.

"But I can't reach that high," complains Patricia Reusch as Fred Barber attempts to explain the art of using a slide rule.

A familiar scene after school is the "14:30" club under the guidance of Mr. Goss. This "intellectual" organization enables the students to catch up on their math work.

Changing the Times

Today's students must be able to meet the challenging problems created by the ever-expanding field of science. Helping equip students to cope with space-age problems, our Science Department offers courses in biology, chemistry, physics, earth science, and general science.

Among the annual projects of the Science Department is the Science Fair, which gives interested students an opportunity for independent research. Science Seminars are also available to advanced students. Supplementing class instruction, lab periods provide practical application through experiments.

Robert Blackie stands back cautiously from his chemistry experiment which seems about to explode. Our chemistry laboratories are well equipped for experimentation in all types of chemistry.

Harold Miner, co-ordinator of sciences in the West Springfield School System, discusses a recent physics lab period with Jay Sheeley, Phil Ashton, and George Chamberlain.

Practicing Office Procedures

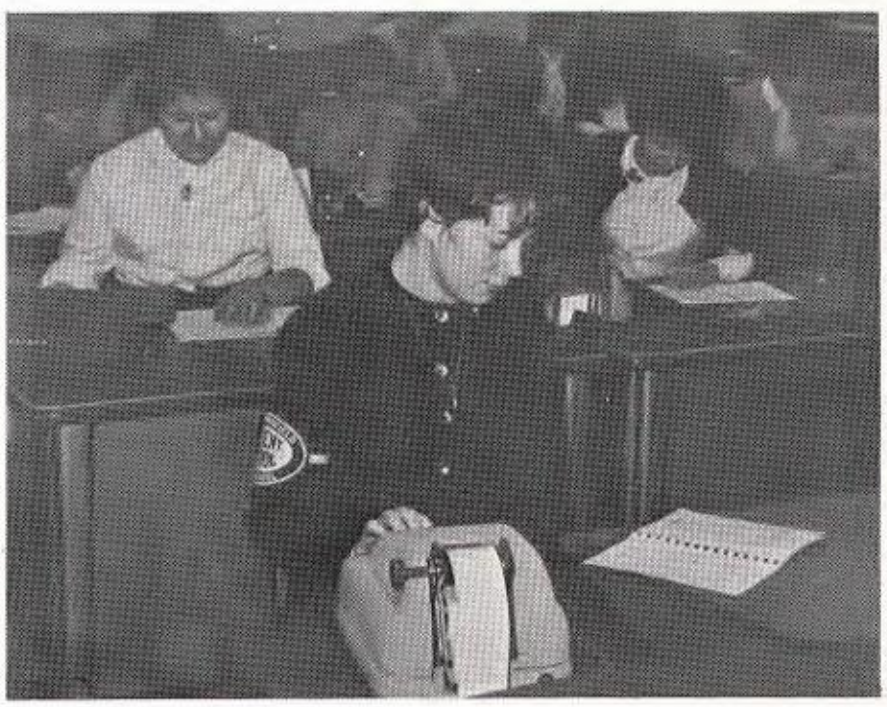
The West Springfield High School Business Department has a distinguished record in training students in a wide variety of commercial subjects — typewriting, bookkeeping, stenography, transcription, clerical practice; office practice, office machines, business law, business mathematics, and salesmanship.

After completing the four-year business course, our students are well prepared to entre either commercial colleges or various careers in the business world, such as secretarial work, banking, merchandising, retailing, and marketing.

The success of West Side alumni in the business field testifies to the high quality of our commercial course and its faculty. The members of the Business Department are: left to right: Miss Louise Smith, Miss Jean Kelliher, Maurice Pease, Miss Alice Clark, and Miss Margaret Curley, department chairman.

"Keep your eyes on your books." Take your paper out and proofread carefully." Student typists, Pamela Jones and Linda Taylor, learn the skills of typing through diligent practice.



Calculating profit and loss statements of a theoretical company gives Carolyn Sullivan and her STO classmates office experience.

Making final corrections before preparing to run off a report on one of the mimeograph machines found in the Business Department are Penny Peacock, Cheryl Poehlman, and Judy LeFrancöis.

Preparing for Domestic Life

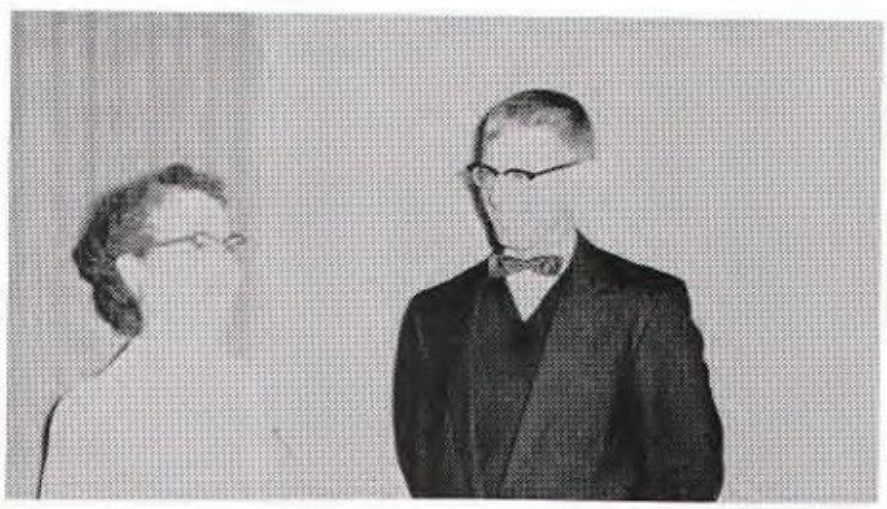
Mrs. Eileen Lenahan and Miss Joyce Ashley, Home Economics instructors, demonstrate new types of stitching on one of the modern sewing machines.

Hands preparing the staff of life, and hands guiding the homemakers of the future, the instructors of the Home Economics Department attempt to teach domestic skills to the housewives and career women of tomorrow.

Students learn how to plan well-balanced menus, to prepare tasty meals, to buy wisely and economically, and to care for a family. The students are given opportunities for practical experience in these fields by sewing and cooking in up-to-date kitchens, by providing refreshments for various school events, by making their own garments which they model in fashion shows, and by going on trips to investigate their fields of endeavor.

"Now pin the dart here at the waistline," Miss Ashley tells her students, Barbara Godek and Mary Ann Korpac. Girls in the Home Economic classes find ways to dress becomingly and economically by learning to design and sew clothes for themselves and others.

Miss Joyce Morrissey helps Geraldine D'Amico and Carolyn Sullivan with interior decorating in her family living class. The girls study child psychology, personality development, and the essentials for making a family happy and secure.



Pre-vocational subjects, taught by Theodore Smith and Miss Florence Blish, train students to prepare themselves for life after high school. The students have a morning schedule of subjects such as English, history, math, and science. In the afternoon the boys receive general shop courses while the girls are taught helpful homemaking practices. A new program is being developed to provide practical experience for the students through part time work in stores, hospitals, filling stations and local industries.

Mastering Practical Skills

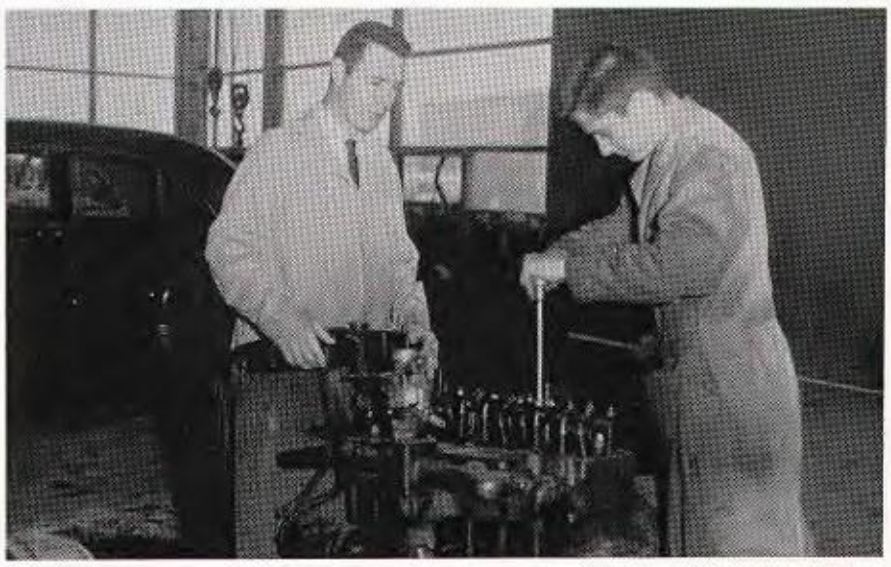
Industrial arts play an important role in the education of today's young men. In our modern facilities, boys may master skills by which they can later earn a living. Courses are offered in printing, drafting, woodworking, automobile mechanics, metalworking and other vocational areas. As a background for these courses, students study local industries, job classifications, working qualifications, pay rates, and opportunities for advancement.

As a part of the course in mechanical drawing, Mr. Richard Aseltine (l) and Mr. Earl Chapman (r) show John Kokoszka and Fred LeDoux a model blueprint from which they are to produce a finished copy.

Mr. Hollis Etchells demonstrates the new offset press to David Bruso. From a single master copy, the press runs off thousands of copies per minute. The general printing course trains students in the art of typesetting used in producing a printed page.



Students in Mr. Robert Tharaldson's auto mechanics class learn by experience how to repair automobile engines. Here David Matchett prepares to overhaul a Briggs & Stratton Motor.

In Mr. Richard Eagan's woodworking classes, boys learn to build objects from plans and to sand and refinish wood. Mr. Eagan shows how to cut a piece of wood to the desired width and length.

Developing Physical Fitness

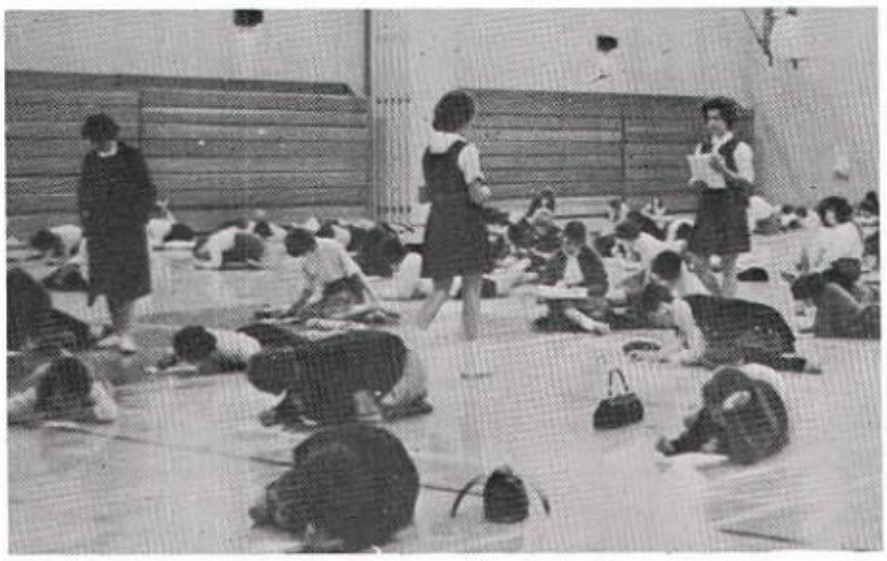
The Boys' Physical Education program provides the chance for students to build themselves physically, as well as to develop a competitive spirit. In physical education, individual instruction is offered in gymnastics and wrestling, as well as team efforts in soccer, basketball, and volleyball. Participation in these activities has been found very beneficial to the students.

At the right Mr. William Jones and Mr. Kenneth Kindig help Tom Flach, as he attempts a new stunt on the rings.



No, the desks are not missing: this is just the way the girls take their physical education exams. The girls sprawl in varied positions on the floor, while Miss Harding, Mrs. Venick, and Prisilla Blew, a member of the Leaders' Club, officiate.

Under the supervision of Mr. Kenneth Kindig, our boys make a gallant attempt to meet the standards of the "Marine Physical Fitness Tests." Although the tests themselves are strenuous, each boy will agree that the after-effects are much worse.

Girls' Physical Education classes play an important part in the physical fitness and grooming of each girl. The modern equipment enables every girl at West Springfield High School to exercise and keep fit. Sports such as volleyball, basketball, soccer, and field hockey, along with many others played in class, help each girl to develop good sportsmanship as well as good co-ordination.

Fostering Creative Talent

Mr. Donald Abbe, as director of the band, has brought many honors and much acclaim to our high school. Now that band is a regularly scheduled class, there is time for the members to develop their skills and prepare a more difficult and varied program. This proficiency is shown in the annual Pops Concert as well as in the interesting half-time appearances at fall football games.

The capable hands of Mrs. Edith Rice, art instructor, have inspired many of her students with new ideas and techniques of art. The students of art learn the background of many great masters, as well as the philosophy of art and how to apply it to their own work. Mrs. Rice has also helped to develop the talents of her students with lessons in drawing, lettering, painting, and sculpturing. Here the creative hands of Mrs. Rice show Deanne Suzor some points on the formation of the sculpture they are admiring.

Miss Ruth Phelps, choral director, has devoted much of her time preparing for the concerts which are presented by the mixed chorus and the Madrigal. Aside from directing our high school groups, she is the musical director for our entire school system; therefore, she spends much of her time helping the students in other schools with their musical education. Here, Miss Phelps gives Marilyn Andrews, choral accompanist, some tips on playing for one of many concerts during the year.

Serving in a Variety of Ways

A special feature of our school is its library of some 6,000 volumes, especially designed to fit the needs of young people of today. Our school librarian, Miss Alice Burkhardt, is familiar to all students at West Springfield High School. Miss Burkhardt's primary aim is to acquaint the students with the facilities offered by the library so that they may be able to do research more easily. Two student librarians, Robert Green and Nancy Haskins, are shown learning the fundamentals of how a library is organized and operated.

Our school is fortunate to have the full time services of a nurse, Miss Gertrude Bradley, who is always available and willing to help students in need of medical attention. Under her guidance, sight and hearing tests are given, physical examinations are conducted, and special services such as TB tests and polio vaccine programs are offered to students.

A fully accredited driver education program is available as an elective to qualified students at West Springfield High School. Principles of good driving, road safety, and road courtesy are taught as well as actual behind-the-wheel driver training. Mr. James Erickson, driver education teacher, is justly proud of the record of those who have received their licenses under his direction, and of his contribution to the safety of the community. Here, Mr. Erickson prepares to go out on the road with Linda Webb at the wheel of the driver education car.

Caring for Our School

The hands of the cafeteria staff are always busy preparing meals, which are not only tempting, but also are filled with vitamins and proteins, necessities in the diet of busy high-schoolers.

Gaiety is added to lunch time by the staff on Halloween, Christmas, Valentine's Day, and on other occasions when the staff appropriately decorates the cafeteria and makes special meals and desserts, thus creating a more relaxing and pleasant atmosphere for the students as they eat.

Regardless of which period the students eat, they always hungrily await their noon meal.

Mr. William Sullivan, senior custodian, stands next to the refreshment building named for him. Mr. Sullivan retired during the year.

The custodians have the task of keeping the school building and the grounds neat and attractive. Their hands are kept busy washing windows, sweeping floors, and making repairs about the school. Theirs are the hands that lift the shovel in the winter and push the mower in the summer. Just a quick glance at West Side High shows that these men have done an excellent job.

Looking Back Over Four Years

THE SENIOR CLASS — 1963

Mr. Albert Bessette, senior guidance counselor, has his hands full writing references and checking college applications.

On the following pages, we, the Class of 1963, pass in procession. The two hundred sixty seniors shown here stand on the threshold of the future, with one foot in the past and one foot striding quickly, if uncertainly, into the realm of the future. As we pass over this threshold, we shall never entirely leave our past. We shall always remember the tired joy of a well-fought football game, the grueling agony of final exams, the wild joy of each New Year, and the quiet solemnity of Graduation.

Yet, in looking back we must not forget the future. It is a strange new world, kind yet cruel, that lies ahead of us. This world of the future is in our hands; destiny is ours to shape. Contained in the labyrinth of our destiny is that elusive phantom called success. This success is not found, it is formed—formed by hands whose skills are born of knowledge.

May these hands be guided in the darkness of the Unseen and the Unknown by the lantern of learning.

Meriting Our Admiration

Who says we're not talented? The Class of 1963 is well endowed with talent, brains and beauty, and individual members have received a multitude of honors and awards. Outstanding students displaying musical talents, business initiative, leadership qualities, and scholastic abilities were recognized for their efforts.

Each year, the most promising member of the band is chosen as student band conductor. This year James King, pictured above, who plays the trombone, received this honor.

Five girls, Susan Griffin, Gail Gruppioni, Karen Cremonti, Penelope Peacock, and Nora Lawson, were chosen by their business classmates to visit offices of various banks, insurance companies and industrial plants in the Greater Springfield area on National Office Management Association Day.

Helen Sady, John Hayes, and George Cannon represented West Springfield High School at Girls' and Boys' State. Margaret Powell, seated at the right, was Girls' State Alternate. John was also the recipient of the Harvard Book Award, and George received the Dartmouth Book Award.

Elected by the student body for the Daughters of the American Revolution Award for 1963 was Margaret Powell, shown at right.

This year's Homemaker of Tomorrow from West Springfield was Susan Dotson. She was chosen after taking the Betty Crocker Homemaker test in which many students participated.

Representing the Student Body

The Student Council is a "Parliament" composed of class representatives whose members, elected by the student body, must have the qualities of leadership and integrity.

This group has the responsibility of handling student legislation and representing the student's point of view to the administration. It guides the Student Patrol, our law enforcing organization; conducts the Student Court; arranges assemblies; approves bulletin board displays; and places school social functions on the calendar. The vice-president of the Student Council heads the Student Patrol, and the president participates in the "Governor's Day" held at the Eastern States Exposition. One of the council's most important functions is to give its members experience in parliamentary procedure.

Throughout the year, the Student Council handles various money-raising functions. At football games, its members and associates sell programs, shakers, and traditional "West Side" pins. The Student Store, selling an assortment of school supplies and football tickets, is perhaps the most evident of its enterprises. The most well-known, nevertheless, is the annual Terrier Talents, a variety program produced, directed, performed, and presented solely by the student body. The profits of all these functions go toward scholarships for deserving seniors at graduation.

At a regular Friday meeting, Student Council members listen to John Hayes, Council President.

Planning topics for discussion at their next meeting are Student Council officers T. Flach, J. Hayes, N. Duda, and R. Kidd.

Patrolling the Corridors

Members of the Student Patrol who daily help to enforce school rules are: First Row: H. Sady, N. Duda, P. Blew, C. Zarlengo, T. Flach, M. Powell, A. Valorose, M. Morse, M. Andrews. Second Row: M. McKee, D. Douthwright, C. Diamond, S. Christian, S. Dotson, C. Ferrara, J. Provost, R. Circosta, C. Baiardi, D. Suzor. Third Row: B. Paier, C. Sullivan, J. Hayes, G. Gagliarducci, R. Cupidi, P. Gibson, R. Wiseman, J. Martel, D. Perreault. Fourth Row: R. Lonzo, F. Pilon, G. Cannon, J. von Hone, W. Delaney, D. Grady, J. Wilska, F. Brady, D. Bessone.

Enforcing school rules and regulations is the task of the student patrol. This group, under the direction of Vice-Principal Raymond Williamson, has proved to be a definite asset to the student body, as it maintains order in the halls and cafeteria. The Student Patrol is closely connected with the Student Council as evidenced by the fact that the vice-president of the Student Council also serves as captain of the patrol. Leadership, scholarship, and citizenship are prerequisites for all patrol members.

Eliminating "bottlenecks," these patrol members supervise the flow of traffic around them. They are D. Grady, P. Gibson, G. Cannon, H. Sady, J. Provost, J. Hayes, G. Gagliarducci.

Rushing to their posts after leaving class 3 minutes early, are C. Diamond, S. Christian, S. Dotson, P. Powell, H. Sady, and C. Baiardi.

Achieving Scholastic Recognition

The Pro Merito Society, under the supervision of Mr. Lindsay Varnum, consists of juniors and seniors who have maintained an average of 85% or better in all subjects during the previous year.

Senior Pro Merito members have certain privileges, however, not granted to the junior members. The seniors are entitled to a duplicate set of books, they may go to the library during their study hall using their membership cards as passes, and they may leave school early on Fridays instead of attending homeroom at the end of the day.

Ushering duties at graduation and serving on the Daisy Chain are privileges of the Junior Pro Merito members.

Hitting the Marks

Members of the National Honor Society are First Row: V. Johnson, D. Barrett, E. Couture, J. Rebello, N. Goring, R. Circosta, M. Naliwka, D. Douthwright, M. Andrews, S. Dotson. Second Row: L. Breveleri, D. Parent, M. Mucha, J. Taylor, A. Meyer, D. Heywood, M. McKee, S. Goldsmith, C. Zarlengo, M. Powell. Third Row: B. Edwards, S. Bistran, E. Doty, R. Fillion, P. Gibson, J. Wilska, F. Brady, R. Hosmer. Fourth Row: C. Mueller, R. Pajak, R. Rossi, J. Hayes, E. Gibbons, R. Cupidi, J. O'Connor, D. Grace, and G. Cannon.

One of the honorary organizations in the high school is the National Honor Society. Members are students who have achieved a scholastic average of 85 or better, but character, leadership, and service are also considered when the members are selected. One privilege of the society members is that they can receive a duplicate set of books, if there are enough books available. In acknowledgement of membership, all student members receive gold pins; the seniors receive blazers; and each is further distinguished by wearing a gold banner over his robe at graduation.

Since the National Honor Society is a nation-wide organization, all colleges are familiar with it and its qualifications. Special scholarships are also available to these members.

A three-hour National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test of educational development covering English usage, social studies, natural sciences and word usage is given to students in their junior year. A selection score, which is the total of five test scores, is used by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation as the basis for selecting semi-finalists and students eligible for Letters of Commendation. Victoria Johnson and Naomi Goring, center, achieved semi-finalist standing. Those who received Letters of Commendation were from left to right: Francis Brady, Susan Dotson, Margaret Powell, and Peter Gibson.

Deciding Class Business

Much of the administration of the affairs of each class is placed in the hands of its Executive Committee.

The class officers of the sophomore and junior classes, under the supervision of their guidance counselors, appoint eight students from their respective classes to make up the committees. These eight students represent each section of the towr and each course at the higl school.

When financial problems of a class are on hand, the Executive Committee organizes a plan to raise funds for its class treasury. The sophomore committee sponsored a Christmas card sale, and the junior committee sponsored a candy sale.

Awarding gifts to members of the sophomore class for selling the greatest number of Christmas cards is Mr. Milton Laufer, their class adviser.

Discussing profits made from the candy sale are Gary Gasperack and the Junior Executive Committee.

Two of the school's biggest social events every year are the Mock Prom, planned by the Sophomore Executive Committee, and the Junior-Senior Prom, planned by the Junior Executive Committee.

Sticking With the Job

One regular Homeroom Representative and one alternate are elected by every homeroom at the beginning of each school year.

These representatives are kept busy throughout the year collecting dues, distributing information to classes, and handling the sale of candy, Christmas cards, and Student Activity Tickets. The purchase of Student Activity Tickets helps finance many activities, helps to reduce the student's cost of participating in school functions, and pays for class dues, and the yearbook, which is distributed by the representatives.

Promoting the sale of S.A. Tickets is one of the duties of Homeroom Representatives. Here Susan Christian sells an S.A. ticket to Charlene Diamond as Marilyn Shapter looks on.

Mr. Albert Bessette, Class adviser, seems quite jubilant over the fact that Faith Rosati, a Senior Homeroom Representative, is handing in more money from the sale of Student Activity Tickets.

Publishing The Terrier Times

Three big changes have taken place in the publication of the Terrier Times this year; first, the responsibility for its production has been given to the Journalism Class; second, the format of the newspaper has been changed to a new compact form; and third, the actual printing of the paper is being done in our own print shop by the students themselves.

Under the supervision of Mr. Richard Pervonga, the newspaper staff is endeavoring to produce the paper monthly so that the student body will be more-up-to-date.

The finished newspaper consists of news stories, features, editorials, sports stories, and poems. After much writing, rewriting, typing, copywriting, and hard work, the newspaper is printed and distributed among the students of the school.

Staff members of the Terrier Times are: First Row: J. Bozenhard, C. Diamond, R. Kalloch, Mr. Pervonga, adviser; J. Schab, M. Shapter, D. Barrett. Second Row: N. Binda, V. Johnson, J. Provost, E. Aitken, H. Dwinell, R. Circosta. Third Row: D. Grace, G. Cannon, T. Harrigan, S. Spooner.

Mary Lou Bregoli, Warren Gentry, and Elizabeth Aitken, look on as Diane Bradley types up an issue of the Terrier Times newspaper.

Concentrating on the copy before them, Rena Circosta, Annette Valarose, and Hannah Dwinell seem unaware of the confused "city room" atmosphere of the Journalism class.

Each student on the newspaper staff has a "beat" assigned to him such as some department or activity in the school which he must cover each week. These write-ups are sometimes used for newspaper articles though additional special assignments are usually used.

Shown looking over the finished product of all their hard work are Diane Bradley, Ellen Clark, Lee Binda, Jacqueline Provost, and Marilyn Shapter.

Lending a Hand

Always ready to lend a helping hand to both the faculty and the student body are the student Office Workers, who dedicate themselves to fulfilling many necessary duties around the school. Their hands are kept busy working the switchboard, delivering the daily notice, collecting attendance forms, and acting as messengers for the faculty.

The helpful office workers are, First Row: C. Arnold, B. Williams, E. Dwyer, P. Blew, N. Binda, M. Baker, K. Beaudry, G. Battista, J. Niemiec. Second Row: L. Taylor, C. Sibley, L. Del Buono, B. Demerski, J. Provost, D. Bradley, C. Zarlengo, G. Gruppioni, L. Savioli. Third Row: A. Rogers, E. Zochowski, D. Laconti, D. Stafford, and S. Christian.

Estehr Lesiak awaits further instructions from Mrs. Dutkiewicz on how to operate the switchboard.

"There certainly are a lot of absentees today!" exclaims Mrs. Conklin to her attendance workers seated left to right: G. Delano, J. Bregoli. Standing: K. Harvey, C. Delimat, E. Zochowski, and S. Crotti as D. Klauber hands her his absentee slip.

With assistance from the industrious hands of the Guidance Workers, the guidance counselors can aid and serve the school more efficiently. One main duty of the guidance workers is to act as receptionists when visiting parents come to talk with their child's class adviser. Another helpful service is keeping the catalogue file in alphabetical order.

The invaluable aides of the Guidance Department are, First Row: C. Cuddy, M. Baker, D. Stafford, B. Arnold. Second Row: K. Bobrowski, S. Clark, L. Toriani, B. Paier, and M. Mucha.

Caring for the Needy

Future "Angels of Mercy" are: First Row: L. Newman, D. Langtange, B. Wood, J. Panto, D. McDonald, V. Guidetti, F. Starzyk. Second Row: S. Scannell, K. St. Jean, P. Ferrara, B. Demerski, L. Del Buono, J. Olson, L. Wheeler, J. Abbe. Third Row: V. Malaguti, L. Webb, A. Salzano, A. Brine, J. Quatrone, M. Wiggins.

Membership in the Future Nurses of America is open to all girls planning a career in nursing. Advised by Miss Gertrude Bradley, school nurse, the girls learn the values of nursing and the skills and training necessary to become successful nurses. F.N.A. activities include visiting neighboring hospitals, having experienced nurses speak at special meetings and putting on teas at which F.N.A. members from nearby high schools are guests.

Aren't you glad it's Joan Martel they are working on and not you! Displaying their talents as "candy stripers" are Doreen Ashe, Pamela Moe, and Laurene Wheeler.

Decorations to brighten the Veterans Hospital are being made by the members of the Junior Red Cross. Busily at work are J. Bara, D. Jennison, and M. Lawson.

Membership in the Junior Red Cross provides an opportunity for students to give a helping hand to the needy and unfortunate. To begin the year, the annual Red Cross Drive was successfully conducted in homerooms by the members under the supervision of Mrs. Helen Cowing.

Service projects this year included the decorating of the Holyoke Soldiers' Home on Valentine's Day, serving as blood-mobile aides in Springfield Hospital, and donating funds to make clothing for needy children. Also this year our Red Cross was host for the Inter-High Council composed of suburban high school clubs. A discussion of the role of youth in civil defense was conducted.

Building Future Careers

These future educators are, First Row: C. Purchase, S. Rzasa, S. Engle, E. Lutzeier, S. Moultrop, D. Serafini, B. Condon, S. Szymonik, M. Langone, M. McKee, C. Papuzzo, Mrs. Cowing. Second Row: C. Bigelow, J. Niemiec, L. Hall, J. Elliott, M. Naliwka, S. Coons, L. Flint, L. DiStefano, E. Kennedy, S. Kasper, M. Melchiori, K. Flynn. Third Row: J. Taylor, C. Wyman, R. Manlor, M. Mucha, J. Farnsworth, P. Dolan, J. Moriarty, M. Clark, J. Abbe, A. Brine, J. La Pan, K. Garvey, A. O'Neill. Fourth Row: G. Roberts, D. Heywood, P. Moe, S. Crotti, R. Cupidi, R. McCarroll, K. Whitaker, J. Annino, W. Hutchins, D. Parent, C. Eckart.

The Future Teachers of America, under the guidance of Mrs. Alice Cowing, gives students interested in the teaching profession a chance to learn about the requirements and duties of becoming good teachers. Because of the great shortage of qualified persons entering teaching today, one of the principal motives of the F.T.A. is to encourage talented young people to become teachers. Observing classes and practice teaching in local elementary schools are highlights of the club's activities.

These can't be new sophomores! No, members of the Future Teachers of America practice their teaching skills in local elementary schools.

Dianne Serafini and Evelyn Szymonik greet teachers attending the conference held by the F.T.A. at the high school.

West Springfield High School played host to a Red Cross convention in which the Junior Red Cross clubs from surrounding schools were represented.

Dramatizing Life

The Drama Club is enjoying its second year of activities under the direction of John Chandler, club adviser.

Students from each class are allowed to participate and lend a hand in the club's projects. Chief project this year is the production of "Cheaper by the Dozen," scheduled to be presented this spring.

The club not only affords members the chance to display acting skill, but it acquaints them with the behind-the-stage techniques of running a true-to-life production.

Round table or round-robin rehearsing? Frank Mills sits one out as Bob Gombar, Toni Bessone, Bob Lonzo, Rich Rosa, and Joe Smith look on.

Not Simon Legree, but Bob Gombar rehearses his role with Toni Bessone and Bob Lonzo as three of the twelve children in "Cheaper by the Dozen."

Figuring out the complicated light system backstage are Bob Lonzo and Alan Bower.

Recognizing Beauty

The Art Club is open to those students who are interested in art and its various subdivisions. This year's club, because of its great size, is divided so that one group meets on Wednesday and another on Friday. The members have chosen as their officers for this year: Geraldine D'Amico, president; Ernest Carbone, vice-president; Joanne Fortune, treasurer; and Lucinda Taylor, secretary. The club also decided to divide its program into three units, painting, sketching and sculpturing. During each unit the members are to create something of their own liking and develop it into a finished product.

A new policy started by this year's Art Club is the presentation of a scholarship every other year, to some worthy student, to attend the art school of his choice. The money for this scholarship is raised by the collection of dues from the club members.

These artists meet twice a week to express their thoughts through drawing. The Art Club includes: First Row: D. Suzor, C. Sullivan, L. Taylor, J. Fortune, D. Dallas, C. Farnsworth, K. Cremonti. Second Row: V. Tenczar, S. Engle, J. Wotasic, J. Daniels, R. Nayler, L. Warner, C. Roy. Third Row: S. Hasek, J. Riley, L. Reilly, C. Borelli, D. Ash, W. Nutting. Fourth Row: P. AstaFerraro, W. Samol, E. Carbone.

Members of the Art Club express their artistic abilities through painting, sculpturing and sketching.

Ernest Carbone and Bill Samol are shown putting their talents to work on a piece of sculpture.

Gerri D'Amico pauses to admire the Art Club bulletin board which brightens the corridor outside the cafeteria.

Supplying the Students

The Student Council Store sells school supplies, paperback books, and novelties to both students and faculty members. Items for sale include book covers, briefolios, pencils, pens, mascots, "shakers" and charm bracelets. The store also serves as the "lost and found" department. Lost books are brought to the store where the students may redeem them for a small sum.

This year the store has been relocated in the upper student lobby, where it is more convenient for students and may be kept open throughout the day. The proceeds are used to finance the Student Council program which supplies scholarship aid to deserving graduates.

Either there is a big sale going on at the store or nobody did his homework last night.

The student store workers this year are, First Row: Pat Wright, Ellen Clark, Lee Binda, Marilyn Shapter, manager; Pat Benjamin, assistant manager; Jackie Provost, Lois Breveleri. Second Row: Susan Patterson, Carol Rushby, Annette Valorose, Joan Martel, Sandra Lyne and Jean Bozenhard.

Lynn Shapter and Pat Benjamin show Mr. Wyman, the store's adviser, a cute new gimmick.

Is that Joan Martel slipping her hand into the money box?

Who's selling whom the merchandise?

Exploring in Different Ways

Service is the chief objective of our student librarians. Under the direction of Miss Alice Burkhardt, high school librarian, the students receive a thorough training in library work.

The students participating in the Library Club prepare books and newspapers for circulation, assist schoolmates in locating information, check books in and out of the library, and encourage reading by arranging attractive book displays. The student librarians give up their study periods, home room periods, and much time after school to perform these helpful services for the rest of the school.

Explaining the card file to two underclassmen is JoAnn Daniels, student librarian.

These library workers, known to any student who has used the library, are: First Row: L. Symington, V. Anderson, J. Hastings, J. Daniels, M. DeChristopher, C. Black, C. Echart. Second Row: S. Hasek, B. Daignault, M. Heller, G. Donoghue, M. Naliwka, C. Drewiany, R. Green.

"Anyone for exercise and enjoyment?" The Bicycle Club, under the direction of Mr. Michael Murphy, offers a chance for both, and an opportunity to see much of the local countryside from the saddle of a cycle.

The students who participate in this organized group display stamina and enthusiasm as they pedal their way to destinations such as Worcester, the Mohawk Trail, or distant places in Connecticut.

Club members, who take in stride any journey within a fifty-mile radius, may be seen cycling together almost every Saturday during the fall and spring.

Taking full advantage of a brief rest period during their trip are Mr. Murphy, Fred LeDoux, George Hlavenka, and James Michalek.

Marching at Half-Time

Awaiting the start of the concert are, First Row: D. Allard, J. Hamberg, B. Ekberg, R. Runte, W. Noyes, L. Newman, S. Creran, R. Neumann, J. Farnsworth. Second Row: L. Hunt, J. Nowell, K. Beebe, D. Doe, J. Taylor, B. Wood, K. Condon, C. Papuzzo, J. Abbe. Third Row: S. Kaerner, S. Crotti, C. Malerba, P. Mullin, L. Nystrom, N. Pringle, R. Bowie, R. Page, E. Franzosa, C. Gervicks, P. Dolan, R. Bond. Fourth Row: D. Heywood, D. DeBarge, A. Zepko, B. Swierad, B. Aseltine, D. Parent, J. Flaskamper, B. Oney, E. Doty, L. Kendall.

All together, boys—BLOW! Responding to the command are W. Bellamy, R. Porter, B. Simkins, and R. Kidd.

The audience relives old memories as they listen to the Barber Shop Quartet made up of G. Wyman, J. King, R. Dionne, and R. Porter, all outstanding band members.

The Band under the fine direction of Mr. Donald Abbe begins its functions each year by traditionally performing in "Governor's Night" at the Eastern States Exposition. Soon afterwards their musical strains can be heard every Saturday afternoon at half-time football performances.

When football season comes to a close, the band's year has hardly begun. They lend their spirits to the first home basketball game and at least once during the season urge our hockey team on to victory at the Coliseum.

Earning Money for the Band Trip

Other anxious members of the Band are, First Row: J. Adams, E. Couture, J. Annino, J. Miechlic, S. Ritter, M. Wiggins, A. Veighy, M. Doody. Second Row: D. Lindahl, J. Quatrone, C. Corbine, D. Ordway, B. Smith, P. Lessard, D. McDonnald, S. Bistran, J. Gregitis. Third Row: R. Kidd, T. Mead, S. Cramb, R. Dionne, M. Smith, R. Withee, D. Warren, F. Mills, B. Sullivan, N. Bennett, J. Moriarty, K. Simpson. Fourth Row: B. Taylor, J. King, G. Wyman, J. Sheldon, A. Gauthier, Mr. Abbe, R. Porter, P. Dion, W. Bellamy, J. Wheeler, B. Simpkins, S. Guernsey.

During this time, the school band is also preparing for the annual Pops Concert held in February. Practice makes perfect and perfection is the aim of every member, especially when the group competes with other school bands at the Western Massachusetts Music Festival which is held in the spring.

Throughout the year, the band sells candy and runs paper drives to raise money for its anxiously awaited vacation trip.

All Aboard! How could anyone be so wide awake at six o'clock, as the band leaves for Pennsylvania?

Who put the crack in the Liberty Bell? The band traveled to Philadelphia to find out.

Analyzing and Inventing for the Future

Future mathematicians? With rulers, pencils, and slide rules in their hands, the members of the Math Club investigate various phases of advanced algebra, calculus, and trigonometry beyond those available in the classroom. Supervised by Lindzay Varnam, the Math Club is aimed at stimulating mathematically inclined students. Club members also have the opportunity of expressing some of their ideas in exhibits at the annual "Math Fair" held at Technical High School.

Whatever the problem is it seems to be quite complex. Attempting to come up with the correct answer are (seated left to right:) E. Pease, C. Mueller, R. Edwards. Standing: D. Parent, N. Goring, S. Dotson, J. Couture, R. Bond.

Mixing compounds and solutions for future experiments are R. Edwards, E. Franzosa, J. Gallatin, E. Pease, C. Mueller, and R. Pajak.

The Science Club consists of a group of students that are especially interested in science and wish to investigate various science areas not studied in the school courses. Some of the science fields are cryogenics, cybernetics, atomic physics, and biophysics. The meetings are carried on in a business like manner solely by the students. The adviser of the club is Edgar Johnson, and the officers are: Fred Pilon, President; Robert Pajak, Vice-President; Stephen Bistran, Secretary; Ronald Rossi, Treasurer.

The club members outline the next scheduled activity such as the Science Fair, which they promote and organize, guest speakers, and special science tests. Films are also shown throughout the year.

Investing in the Future

Learning to save is one lesson almost every student knows, for ever since grade school, students have been saving for the future. Promoting thrift and economy among the students at West Springfield High School is the task of the student bankers. Each Tuesday morning, under the watchful eye of Miss Margaret Curley, these volunteer bankers go through the "banking process."

Every week the student bankers encourage their homerooms to bank, figure percentages, and carry on other duties of general banking. The money, after passing through the hands of the bankers, is relayed to head tellers, who total the money and turn it over to the bank. Because this procedure is repeated every week, each student has a chance to "save for a rainy day."

Doubles checking? Gail and Gay Gruppioni recheck banking figures as part of the job as bank tellers.

Every Tuesday morning Diane Bradley and Mary Lou Bregoli, bank tellers, approve the bankers' envelopes before sending them to the bank. Homeroom bankers, Joan Baravalle and Lennie Bucko, are also shown.

Money, money, money! These are the girls who count it, sort it, and send it on its way. Banking Tellers are: First Row: D. Bradley, C. Delimat, C. Godek, S. Griffin. Second Row: B. Landry, Gay Gruppioni, Gail Gruppioni, M. Bregoli, C. Shinkwin, and P. Ferranti.

Rehearsing Many Selections

About eighty enthusiastic members, a talented conductor, a versatile accompanist, a responsive piano, and prodigious work are what make up the West Springfield High School Chorus. Under the direction of Miss Ruth Phelps, the chorus has given several concerts before the student body and the public, and a special concert at the Belchertown State School at Christmas time.

Each year, members of the chorus try out for District Chorus and for All-State Chorus. This year, the West Springfield High School Chorus was especially happy to have more of its students represented in District Chorus than any other city or town in Western Massachusetts.

Madrigal singers rehearse many hours after school to prepare for greater perfection through practice.

Performing Varied Programs

A special honor came this year when eight chorus members were selected to be in All-Eastern Chorus, performing a concert at Atlantic City, New Jersey. Our representatives alone made up forty per cent of the entire contingent from Massachusetts.

The Madrigal Group is a select body of sixteen talented musicians from the Chorus. This group performs special arrangements a cappella and intricate classical and folk pieces, for which the members devote a great deal of time for extra rehearsing.

These members of the Madrigal, a select group within the chorus are: First row: D. Driscoll, D. Douthwright, A. Padfield, M. Powell, M. Andrews. Second row: M. McConnell, S. Moultrop, F. Circosta, P. Peacock, R. Elliott.

Shouting for West Side

Members of the Pep Club who lent their voices to various sports functions are, First Row: S. Patterson, E. Aitken, C. Rushby, N. Binda, R. Caney, P. Blew, N. Patterson, P. Wright, J. Gosselin, J. Riley, S. Christian. Second Row: X. Hmelnicki, A. Valorose, L. DelBuono, B. Demerski, J. Provost, S. Lake, L. Reilly, D. Bradley, J. Baravalle, C. Zarlengo. Third Row: S. Wolieko, V. Wagner, L. Ruggieri, S. Crosby, J. Bozenhard, S. Day, L. Beaudry, C. Roy, A. Bower, R. Wiseman, B. Klauber. Fourth Row: M. Ferguson, C. Purchase, L. Bowen, K. Lovett, C. Latshaw, D. Laconti, J. Harrington, J. Gleason, C. Shinners, T. Gleason, E. Clark. Fifth Row: P. Tardibuono, P. Cirillo, K. Cochrane, S. Casper, L. Hall, P. Lenahan, S. Lyons, P. Kennedy, W. Hutchins, S. Curtain, G. Delano, C. Nothdurft, and D. Laufe.

Cheering enthusiastically in their flashy blue and white sweatshirts, the newly-formed Pep Club sparked the Terrier teams on to victory during the 1962-1963 sports season. Both the cheerleaders and the players appreciated the spirited support through rain, hail, and "sudden death" overtime periods.

The Pep Club meets monthly under the capable leadership of Priscilla Blew and Bob Lonzo; co-captains, Rosemary Caney; secretary, Nancy Patterson; treasurer, and Miss Lorraine Harding; adviser.

Patty Wright is proudly receiving her Pep Club sweatshirt from Pricilla Blew as Jane Gosselin, Jackie Provost and Susan Patterson look on.

"In defeat or victory," the pepsters never turn their backs on West Side High.

Skiing Up a Storm

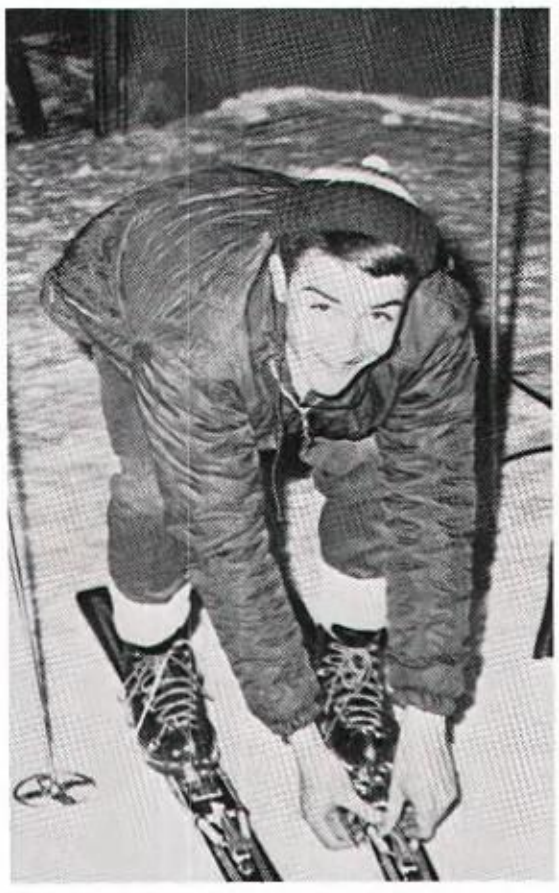
Skiing is fast becoming one of the nation's most popular sports, and West Springfield High School goes hand in hand with the latest trend. This year, the Ski Club, under the direction of Miss Constance Ledger, has a membership of almost one hundred students.

Living in a part of the country where ski areas are readily available, club members are able to plan a program of greater variety. Each Tuesday evening the Ski Club travels to the Mt. Tom Ski Lodge to enjoy an evening on the slopes. On February 1 and 2, West Siders competed against high school skiers from Western Massachusetts and Eastern New York State. Other ski meets were planned with Holyoke, Westfield, and East Longmeadow.



Ending a day of skiing, Bob Lonzo looks forward to some warm refreshments along with much "gab" with other members of the Ski Club in the lodge.

Awaiting tips for better skiing are two members of the Ski Club: Dianne Serafini and Carol Rushby.

Completing a "run" down one of Mt. Tom's hills is Betsy Johnson, an old hand in this business of skiing.

Working Their Hands Off

Preparing copy, cropping pictures, and meeting deadlines—these are the headaches that go into the production of a yearbook. This year, the yearbook, under the direction of Miss Marjorie F. Costello, was made an extracurricular activity. Staff meetings, late work sessions, and photographic developing were done in after-school time, which may account for the harried looks and haggard faces of the yearbook staff.

Money for yearbook production was obtained by the sale of a community calendar. Mrs. Helen L. Cowing served as business adviser in this fund-raising activity.

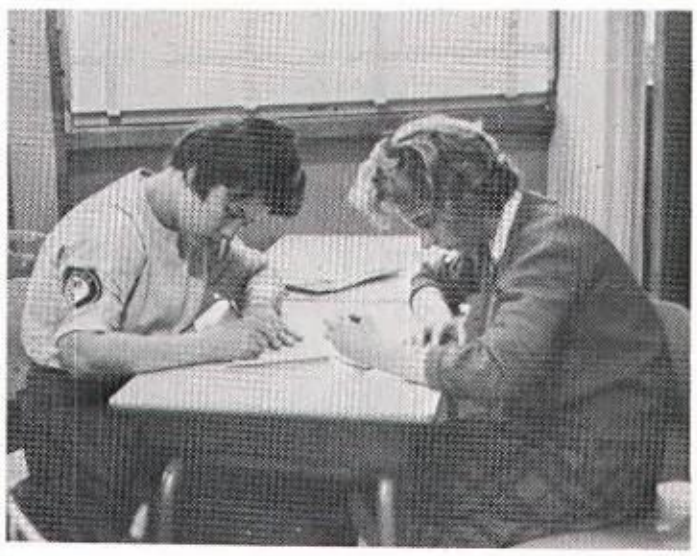
George Cannon works busily into the wee hours of the night on his many intricate sports layouts.



Dianne Perreault and Joan Martel help count the class ballot, a function sponsored by the yearbook staff.

Betsy Johnson is deep in thought as she tries to decide what picture is best for her faculty layout.

Joan Baravalle, Betsy Johnson, Sue Christian, Lynn Shapter, and Jean Riley are trying to identify the hundreds of nameless faces in the many activity pictures.

Looking back through old yearbooks, Annette Valorose, Charlene Diamond, Betsy Johnson, and Sherry Morrison have a good laugh over the outdated styles.

Becoming Old Hands at the Task

Lynn Shapter gives directions to Jackie Provost, Annette Valorose, and Denise Barrett on how to sell the Community Birthday Calendars.

Without Miss Marjorie F. Costello and Mrs. Helen L. Cowing, advisers, where would our yearbook be?

The unique method of cropping pictures is demonstrated by Ro Kalloch, Sue Christian, and Vicky Johnson.

Miss Costello happily examines the final shipping copy of the yearbook, as Lynn Shapter and Vicky Johnson look on.

Have you ever wondered how the yearbook staff looks through the eyes of the editors? This blurred picture certainly is a close comparison.

Dennis Helmar—the best student photographer that a staff could have.

In their search for write ups and pictures Betsy Johnson, Joan Baravalle, and Charlene Diamond find themselves visiting Mr. Chapman at the shop building.

Taking a break from the supervision of the homeroom pictures are Joan Baravalle, Helen Sady, Carol Baiardi, Jean Riley, and Sue Christain.

Teaming Up to Win

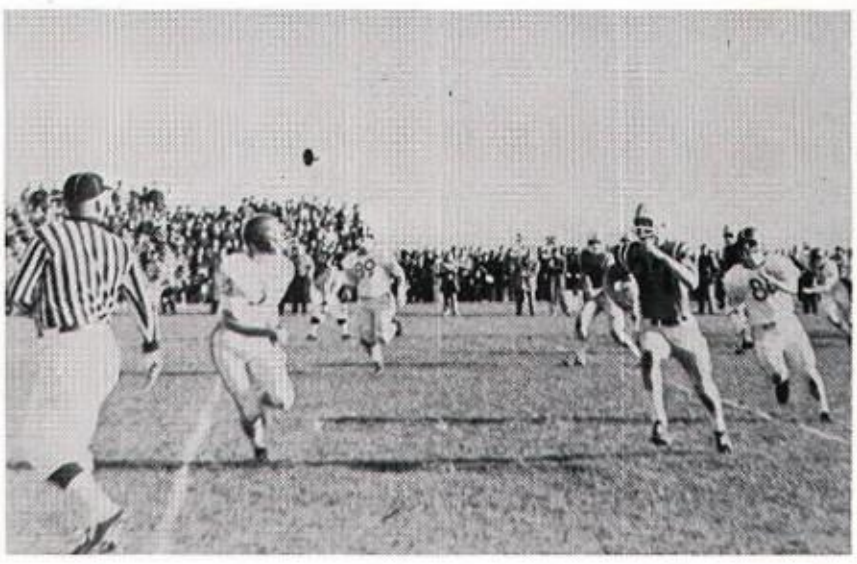
Tom Flach executes a fine but fruitless block as Quarterback George Cannon is tripped up by a Westfield Bomber.

Big Bill Delaney almost breaks into the open after intercepting a Brownie pass. Leading the play is No. 45, Bob Racicot, ready to give Delaney blocking support.

Considered before the season to be a strong squad, West Side's football team proved to be just that, finishing its schedule with a 7-1 overall record. This fine showing earned the Terriers a share of the All-Western Massachusetts Conference Championship and an all-conference rating for six players.

The tough West Side gridders opened the season with a prophetic come-from-behind win over Westfield. Following an easy, independent victory over Pittsfield, West Side defeated previously unbeaten Chicopee. However, West Side was then stormed by Greenfield in a close one, considered one of the major upsets of the Western Mass. season. The Terriers rebounded magnificently and humbled undefeated Holyoke by a decisive 32-15 score. After slushing past Cathedral in a mud-filled field, West Side entered "The Game" with arch-rival Agawam. With a good team effort and showing great incentive, the men scored liberally and defended ruggedly in grinding out a tough 26-12 victory. Despite a gloomy day, the season was polished off brightly with a championship-clinching conquest of Tech's Tigers.

"Ball!" cries No. 35, John von Hone, as a pass intended for Brownie No. 27 is overthrown by Agawam QB.



Fighting for extra yardage, Tom Flach slashes through the Agawam line for a sizeable gain.

Crowning the Victory With a Trophy

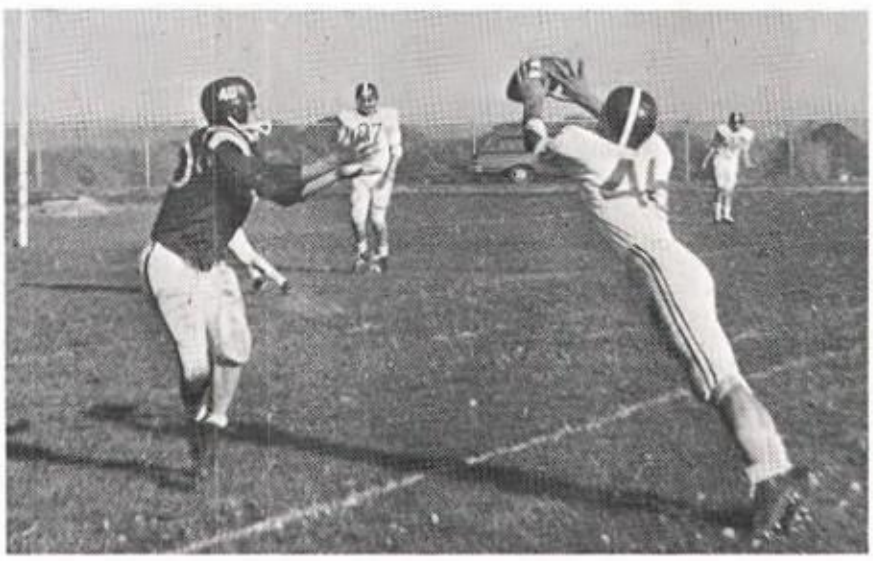
Ronnie Colter draws "first blood" in the opening period of the Agawam game, completing a 24-yard scoring burst with a George Cannon pass.

"Ugh!" groans Tom Flach as he slides to a stop after being tripped up by a Brownie. Terriers looking on, from left to right are: Frank Lasky, Ron Colter, Ed Topor, and Bill Delaney.

The "Big Moment" came for the '63 West Side team after the Agawam game. A decisive 26-12 victory before an overflow crowd allowed the Terriers to keep the Elks Club trophy for a second consecutive year.



Extra effort, a quality which typified this year's squad, is displayed by junior end Lenny Bucko as he dives to deflect a pass intended for a Greenie back. John O'Connor and Bill Lally tensely await the outcome.

Quarterback George Cannon launches an aerial immediately before being hit by a Greenfield lineman. The backfield judge stands ready to catch any misdemeanors.

Terrier Bob Morrissey sprints toward ball, determined to upset Longmeadow booters' attack on West Side's goal.

The Soccer Team of West Springfield High School closed out a hard and long season with a 10-4-1 record, the best in twenty years.

The lively squad, coached by Ted Smith, had many outstanding players. Doug Bessone was selected as West Side's most valuable player, and both he and Carl Poole were elected to the All-Pioneer Valley Soccer Team. Second team spots went to Bob Golden and Dave Clark. John Hayes and Gary Gasperack received honorable mention. The top scorers of this season were Dave Clark, Gary Gasperak, and Bob Morrissey, respectively.

Special mention goes to Bob Green, who has served faithfully as the Terriers' manager for the past four years.

Gary Gasperack carries the ball out of a confusion of players toward the Longmeadow goal, as Dave Clark comes up to assist.

Courting a Victory

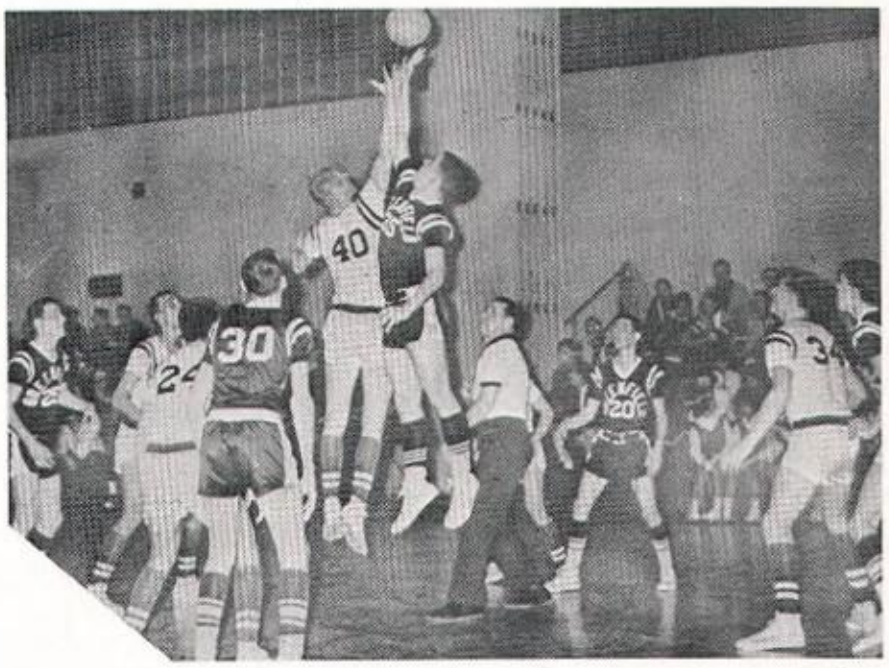
Ron Colter sends a foul-shot toward the hoop in a game with Holyoke. Dan Grady and Hugh Pirnie prepare to leap for the rebound.



Another game gets under way (and another victory for West Side), this one with Greenfield. All the players await the outcome of the tap before breaking into action.

"Fancy, huh . . . "says Gary Gasperack as he outwits a Greenie defender to score a helpful two points.

The tall Terriers were off on a winning season with a 4-0 record before Christmas and were looking forward to success against strong opponents in the Christmas Festival. This year's hoopsters have a smooth blend of experienced seniors and sparkling juniors. Captain Bill Delaney leads the quintet with his sharp-shooting and rebounding.

Coach Wyman's charges experienced a variety of emotions in their first four starts as they rolled to two easy victories, then pulled out two squeakers. In the first Pittsfield game, the West Siders outscored their foes in an overtime period to win by only five points. Thrills like these are typical of such a fine team.

Jim Girotti leaps high in the air to take a safe lay-up after breaking into the open.

Players mill around the foul-line in a confused tangle as Dan Grady launches a jump shot. Other West Side players are Ron Colter, Bob Shay, and Hugh Pirnie.

Jim Girotti, Gary Gasperack, Carl Poole, and Bill Delaney converge on the ball after a West Side shot has gone astray.

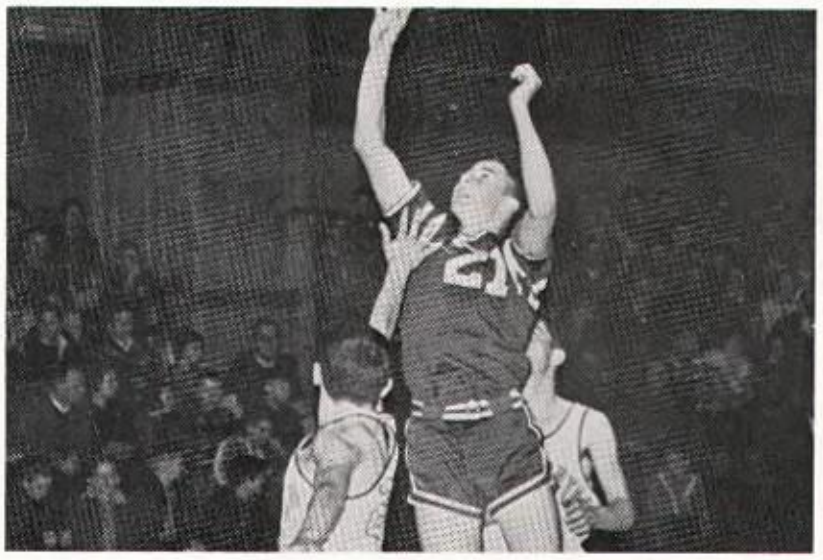
The West Side Varsity gathers around Coach Wyman to get last-minute instructions . . . and to pray for success.



Ken Chapin manages to get a shot off in a Junior Varsity game despite the pressure of two Northampton players.

A confused tangle of arms and heads signifies the struggle for the control of rebounding. The ball hovers patiently overhead as West Side and Agawam players disengage themselves.

Carl Poole drives through two Commerce defenders to deposit the ball in the basket.

Carl Poole tries his hand at a tricky reverse lay-up. Meanwhile, Billy Lally maneuvers into position for the rebound—if it occurs.

Icing the Season With a Tournament Bid

"Watch out!" shouts Dave Clark, and Stan Witek reacts with a jab at the puck. Goalie George Tucker, however, not the least bit dismayed, calmly kicks the puck away.

The game is hockey, not golf; but Len Bucko still tries using his "wood" to upset the foes.

Despite the loss of six top lettermen from last year's team , the 1963 varsity hockey squad put forth a great team effort in compiling a 6-3-6 record, qualifying for fourth place in the Berry Division of the Western Massachusetts Schoolboy Hockey League. In view of this record, the Terriers participated in the annual Massachusetts State Schoolboy Hockey Tournament in Boston.

This year's team, involved on the tightest Berry Division race in the league's history, played many games under extreme pressure. Each time, the persistent Terriers produced the necessary results. The sparks that ignited the team for every effort were: Don Liebro and Stan Witek, scoring aces; and George Tucker, a steady goalie. Sophomores and juniors contributed greatly to the team, and offer promise for future years. Among those who saw action consistently were: Don Breveleri and Dave Clark, co-captains elect, Len Bucko, Bob Badone, Marty Smith, Ray Germano, and Don Agnoli. Other senior standouts were: Doug Bessone and Bill Murray.

Trying to pull a fast one on the opposition is Dave Clark. Dave, having left most of the players on the ice behind, is trying to set up a break-away.

Two East Longmeadow forwards gang up on Terrier Don Liebro, heading up ice, in a futile attempt to put the damper on the swift West Side attack.

"Defense is the thing," says defenseman Don Breveleri. Here he puts theory to practice by foiling a potential scoring bid.

Fighting for Points

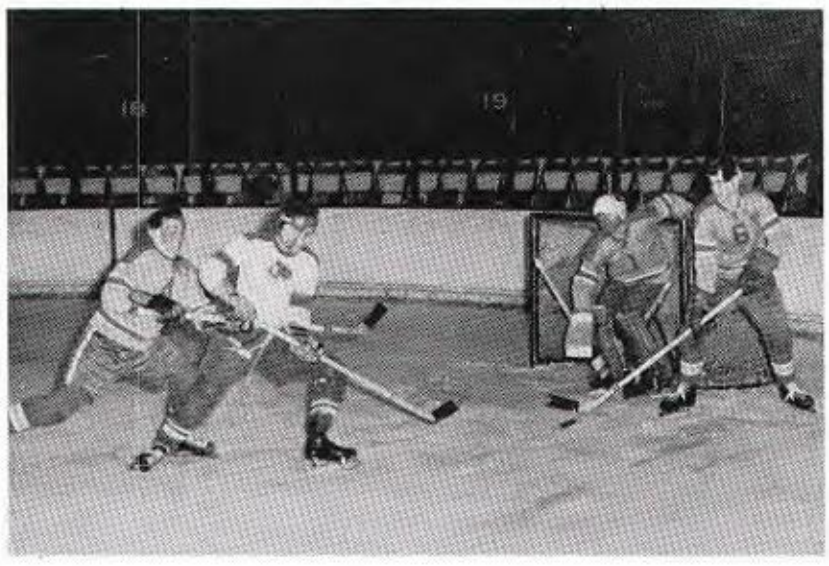
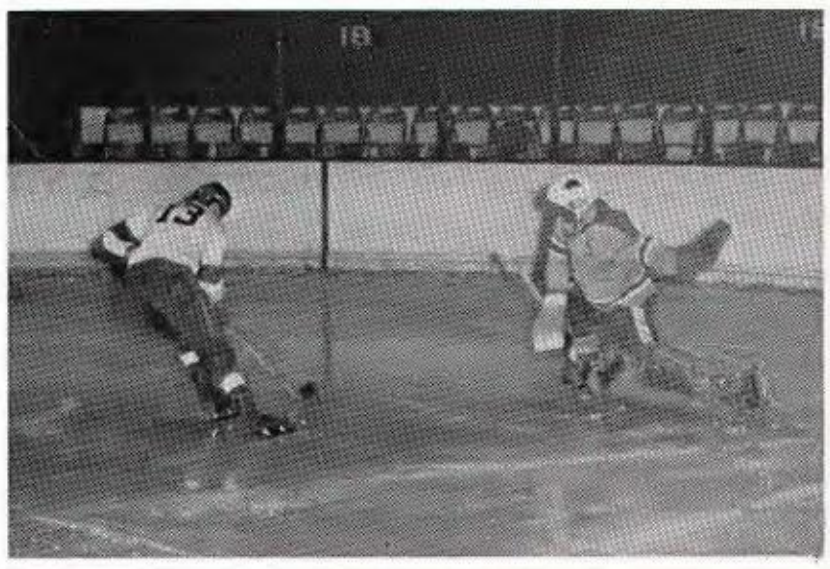
Don Liebro, who has slipped between the E. Longmeadow defensemen, raps a shot toward the well-protected goal.

Veering sharply to avoid hitting the cage, Dave Clark attempts to slip the puck past the East Longmeadow goalie. Awaiting any rebounds is Ralph Germano.



Appearing as deserted as two men on an ice floe, Bill Murray and the opposing goalie play a game of wits. Bill tries to maneuver for a score, while the goalie attempts to stall him until help arrives.



"Victory is ours!" is the shout from the varsity hockey squad. Triumph brings smiles to the faces of all concerned, from coaches to mascot.

Maintaining Physical Fitness

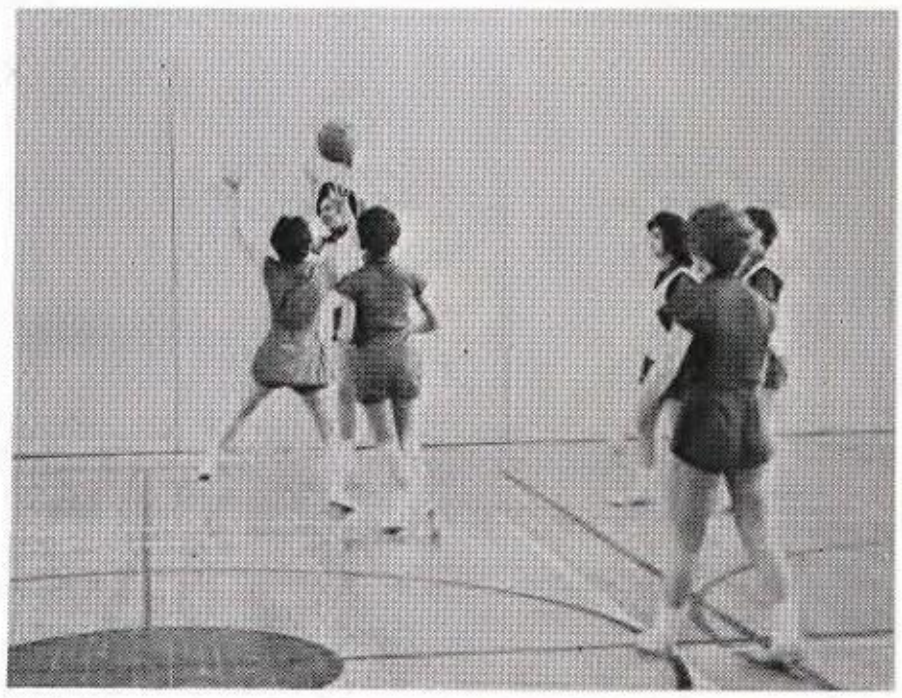
Practicing for the Daisy Chain (or could they be lined up for a foul shot?) are four hoopsters from the Blue and White teams. The basketball at the top of the picture would seem to support the alternative.

Members of a girls' gym class respond to the "hup-two" of their instructor. Vigorous exercise is important in maintaining good health.

Cries of "Yea, Blue!" and "Come on, White!" ring out more and more from the gym where a new look in girls' sports has appeared. This attempt to revive the waning interest in girls' sports has been effected by girls' physical education instructors Miss Lorraine Harding, Mrs. Harriet Vinick, and Miss Elizabeth Holey. Their plan was designed to increase participation in after-school sports. This year, girls' sports have included field hockey, speedball, basketball, gymnastics, and softball. The group of girls was equally divided into two teams. Each team subdivided and played its own members, until play-offs decided a championship team. Then, the two winners played each other in a tournament to decide the school champions. It is hoped that this may lead to intramurals in the years to come.

Doing push-ups is one good way to stay in shape. Although some girls don't appreciate this exercise, the ones pictured above seem to be enjoying it thoroughly.

Sue Kupek finds something (perhaps the exercise techniques of her classmates) extremely amusing.



"Help!" cries Jane Gosselin as two opposing players move in to steal the ball. Jane is trying to get off a pass before her foes succeed.

Stimulating Interest in Sports

As can be seen from the accompanying picture, activity is the keynote of girls' gym classes. Here some exuberant girls participate in a basketball game.

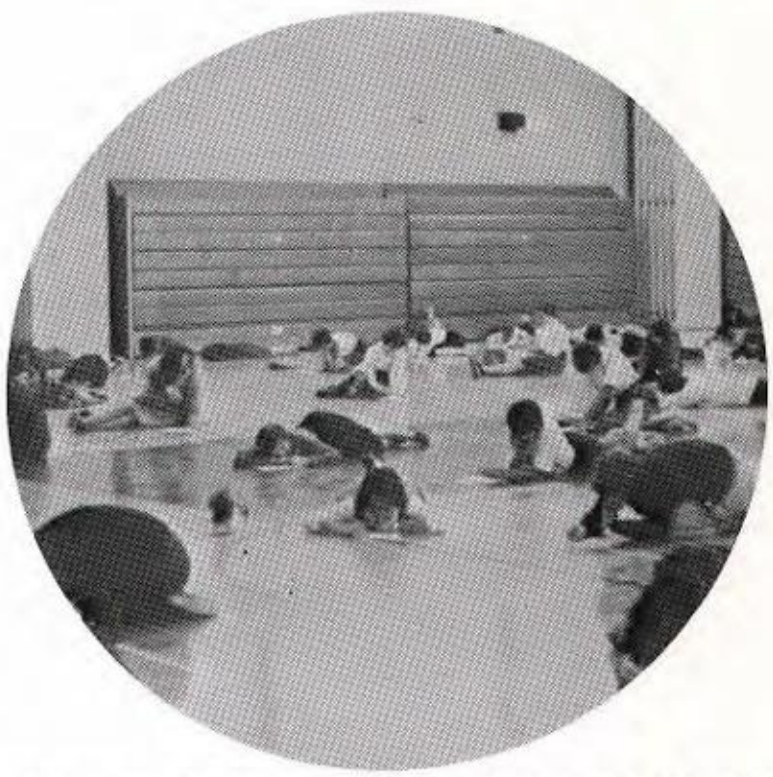
A slight accident is encountered by three sliders after they have maneuvered almost the whole course. Such mishaps were common occurrences during the sledding season.

Exhaustion is the expression written on the faces of Christine Roy (left) and Carol Veto after experiencing a breath-taking ride over the snow.

A new "sport" popped up on the agenda for girls' sports this year. This unprecedented activity proved to be loads of fun for the girls participating.

An unusually cold and snowy winter set the stage for the sledding. Miss Harding and Mrs. Vinick were trying to come up with a new activity, and suddenly hit upon the idea of using the "bad" snow to good advantage. A few days later, the slope behind the school was covered with snowmen running up the hill and sliding down again on large pieces of cardboard.

Girls' gym classes also have their "goof-offs." Here Sue Kupek and a friend wage a towel-war while the rest of the class watch as if enchanted.



Sadly enough, gym classes are not all sport. The girls take regular tests, as in any subject; and the stillness of the gym is in sharp contrast to the usual noise.

Following the Leaders

This year the Leaders' Club is comprised of nine girls who are actively interested in physical education. Membership requirements insist that each of these girls maintains a "B" average in gym and at least a "C" average in all other subjects. The members must also be well versed in sports' regulations.

The duties of the Leaders are to direct exercises in girls' gym classes, to referee games, to supervise intramural sports, and to assist the girls' athletic program in whatever capacity they can.

Pictured below are Miss Elizabeth Holey and Miss Lorraine Harding, girls' physical education instructors and advisers of the Leaders' Club.

Pat Wright spots for Priscilla Blew, shown executing a shoulder stand on the parallel bars.

Burning Up the Track

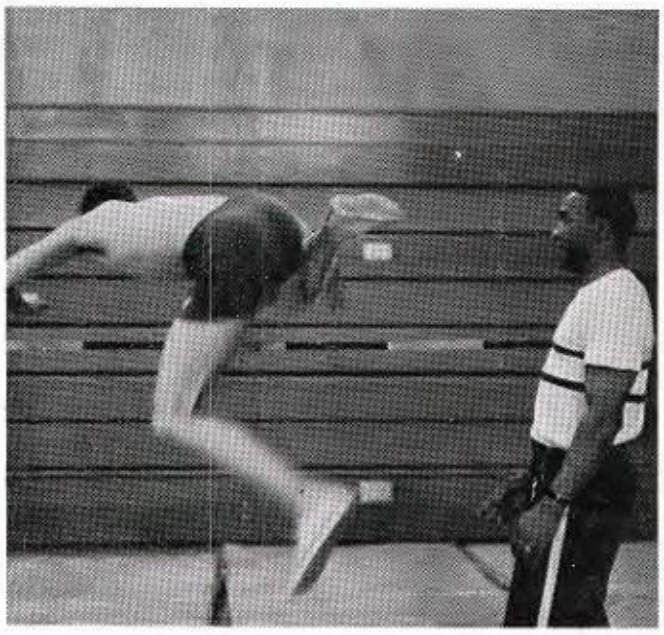
Ron Colter and John Hayes practice their starts in preparation for upcoming meets. A fast start is vital in the sprint events.

After gaining a year of valuable experience as a young squad, the varsity track team will present great competition to any Valley League opposition. Coach Bill Jones is looking forward to improvement in the weight and field events. Such improvement would make West Side a definite threat in the Valley League and Western Massachusetts Championships.

West Side trackmen won the one-half mile relay, and finished high in many other events, in the 1962 Western Massachusetts Championships. This exhibition, combined with the prospect of many talented newcomers from the sophomore and junior classes, promises a very interesting and successful track season.

Returning standouts from last season who will be challenging old records are: Tom Flach, John O'Connor, John Hayes, Wayne Oppenheimer, Ron Colter, Fred Pilon, and Pete Feige.



Coach Jones observes the high-jumping technique of George Borelli as he goes up and over.

Clearing the bar with ease is pole-vaulter Chris Peterson, who shows how perfection comes with practice.

Getting Into the Swing

Maynard Connell

Stan Witek

After losing last year's successful team through graduation, Coach Larry Goss faces a year of rebuilding. Last year's returning varsity lettermen include Junior Gary Gasperack and Seniors Pete Gottsche, and Stan Witek. Other hopefuls from the Junior Varsity include Seniors Maynard Connell and Bill Murray and Juniors Ralph Germano and Marty Pirani.

Although the '62 Tennis Team had little luck in last season's matches, a stronger and more experienced team will represent our school this spring. Seniors this year will include Bob Paro and Captain Bob Teece (pictured), who, along with last year's aces, Gary Webster and Jeff Sargent, should lead the Terrier Tennis Squad to a very successful season.

Slamming Out the Hits

Good weather having allowed them to move outdoors to the hard-top, infielders start practicing up on ground balls. Coach Crosier hits a ball out to George Tucker and Mike Delaney awaits the throw.

The double-play requires good timing and smoothness. Here it is demonstrated by George Tucker and Tim Harrigan.

"This, boys, is a bat," says Coach Dave Crosier jokingly to his co-captains Bill Delaney (left) and George Tucker. Batting averages show that both Bill and George know how to use it.

Coach Dave Crosier has at least one bright spot to look forward to this season, and that is a nucleus of returning lettermen. This nucleus is formed around Co-captains Bill Delaney and George Tucker, and includes: ace pitchers Bob Golden and Russ Bingham; infielders Rich Vercelli, Dan Grady, and Carl Poole; outfielder Bob Silk; and catcher George Gagliarducci.

The return of this strong group of veterans does not mean that new faces will not be seen on the diamond. Many fine members of the J.V. and Freshman squads will be trying to break into the lineup. West Side will present a solid team in the Valley League, which includes such strong teams as Chicopee, Holyoke, and Westfield.

Assistant Baseball Coach Tim Bauman shows pitcher Dan Lynch how to throw the "ol' curve." Dan is patiently practicing indoors until good weather will allow him to take to the diamond.

Promoting School Spirit

Sparking Our Teams to Victory

"In defeat or victory it's West-Side for me!" is the cry heard from the W.S.H.S. cheerleaders throughout both the football and basketball seasons.

Chosen on the basis of scholarship, enthusiasm, personality, and cheering ability, the pepsters practice many hours to perfect their numerous routines.

This year the varsity squad of eight members and the junior varsity of six members have done their best to boost school spirit at all times—in rain, snow and sunshine, performing coatless in the rain of the Cathedral football game, freezing at the Tech game, and returning from the Pittsfield Basketball Festival at two in the morning.

These girls have certainly served as a strong inspiration to all of our teams.

With umbrella in hand and rain bonnets securely on, Miss Lorraine Harding, Cheryl Poehlman, and Helen Sady, hold a conference about the weather during half-time at the Tech-WestSide football game on Thanksgiving Day.

Cheering pepsters and flying shakers are shown as cheerleaders Jane Wagner, Jeanne Pellegrino, and Cheryl Poehlman display their enthusiasm for a fine Terrier effort.

"What down is it?" asks Jane Wagner as she watches the Terrier gridmen in their march upfield.
